| BRANCHING OUT | |
| Directions: Locate articles in today's New York Times that address each of the three branches of government represented by the boxes below. Write the headlines of the articles in the appropriate boxes, depending on whether the content of the article is focused on the legislative, executive or judiciary branch of the United States government. For example, an article about the vice president would be listed in the "Executive Branch" box, while an article about a Supreme Court case's decision would be listed in the "Judiciary Branch" box. | |
